

Four-Year-Old Julian Pavone, 'The World's Youngest Drummer,' Hits Chicago With City's No. 1 Morning TV Show

from PR Newswire - 2008-08-22 19:43:52

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich., Aug. 22 /PRNewswire/ -- Four-year-old Julian Pavone, who at 20 months old became known as "Youngest Drummer!," will appear on Chicago's WGN Morning News, Chicago's No. 1 morning television show, August 29. Julia

Hornets roster gains depth with signing of Brown

from WWLTV - 2008-08-22 21:20:02

It didn't take long for New Orleans to find the player it needed to replace the departed Jannero Pargo. The Hornets signed Brown, a six-year veteran with playoff experience, Friday afternoon. Newly acquired guard/forward Devin...

Jeff Ruland hired as Sixers assistant from Philly.com - 2008-08-22 21:47:08

Jeff Ruland, a two-time NBA All-Star center/forward, joined the 76ers today as an assistant coach. The 6-10 Ruland also served from 1993-94, and had two injury-marred stints with them as a player, in 1986-87 and 1991-92. He spent last...

Hornets sign ex-Cav Brown for backcourt depth

from NBC Sports - 2008-08-22 21:11:39

NEW ORLEANS (AP) -The New Orleans Hornets turned to a familiar face to fill an opening in the backcourt, signing Devin Brown, formerly of the Cleveland Cavaliers, played with New Orleans two seasons ago and was brought back to bolster...

Nike Select Team goes 4-0 in Brazil

from USA Today - 2008-08-23 04:39:15

Avery Bradley of Bellarmine Prep (Tacoma, Wash.) had 25 points and Xavier Henry of Putnam City (Oklahoma City) had 23. The Nike Select Team defeated Paulistano 97-83 Friday to finish its Brazil tour 4-0. Milton Jennings of Pinewood Prep...

Coach K's golden voyage nears end

from The News & Observer - 2008-08-23 06:46:29

BEIJING -Mike Krzyzewski hasn't always slept soundly during the Beijing Olympics. Often, he gets out of bed late at night and sits at his desk. With the Beijing financial district spread out from his hotel window, he jots down strategy or...

Miles's hiatus ends as Celtics sign him

from Boston Globe - 2008-08-23 07:17:26

Darius Miles has not played an NBA game in more than two years because of a knee injury. Now he has about two months to go before he can return to the court.

TNT Newsletter || Privacy Policy || Terms of Use || TV Parental Controls || advertise with us || ask tnt || site

© 2008 Turner Broadcasting System, Inc. A Time Warner Company. All Rights Reserved.

 TNT.tv is part of the Turner Sports and Entertainment Digital Network.