BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich., Oct 30, 2007 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ -- Julian Pavone, who at 20- months-old made headlines around the world with his talents as a drummer, has become perhaps the world's youngest inventor at the age of 3.

Robert L. Kelly, of the prestigious Detroit metropolitan law firm, Dickinson Wright PLLC, has filed an application for Julian's "Abracadabra" Stain Cover-Up which can be used to cover up stains on clothes, paint chips on musical instruments, walls, doors and many other items.

Julian's invention consists of a container that he designed as a base drum that holds the needed color of the correction fluid and an applicator designed as a drum stick.

Bernadino Pavone, Julian's father, described how his son developed the innovation as follows:

"Julian, by accident, made a mark on an old T-shirt I was wearing. He felt bad but told me 'I will fix it.' He got some white out and used it to cover up the spot on the shirt and waved his hand and said 'Abracadabra.'

After he developed the applicator and container, Pavone said, Julian realized he would need different colors to "fix things".

"He actually mixed red food dye and white-out to 'make' pink and applied that to a pink blouse," Pavone said. "That led us to trademark 'Abracadabra' for the product and we are working on developing a formula in as many colors as possible."

"That is the chronologically of the creation of 'Abracadabra' stain cover up," said Pavone.

Pavone continued: "I took the idea to Dickinson Wright but before Mr. Kelly would file for a patent he had to meet and interview Julian. When he was convinced that Julian understood what he did, he filed for the patent."

Pavone said the patent process may take up to a year and during the time of patent review, he will explore the manufacturing process for the applicator and fluids.

Many consider Julian the "Tiger Woods of the Music Industry". His talents were introduced to the world when he auditioned for the Cleveland Cavaliers at only 15 months old and was offered a contract.

At 20 months, Julian recorded his first CD, "Go Baby!" with legendary bassist Ralphe Armstrong. He has performed live on numerous radio stations, for the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers, at a VIP party for the Chicago Cubs season home opener, at the House of Blues, at the Cleveland Grand Prix Opening Ceremonies, at the NBA semi-finals for the Detroit Pistons and the Cleveland Indians.

He has inspired a series of children's books, as well as the formation of Harmonie Network (a national entertainment and music company), the creation of a clothing line in his name, had a Korean documentary produced about him, and received worldwide media coverage.

In association with Harmonie Network Productions (related company of Harmonie Network), Julian will also star in a TV Show "Finding Julian's Band" ... all of this accomplished BEFORE his third birthday!
